2. Introduction

The two key objectives of induction training and all continuing professional development across Marish Academy Trust are firstly to improve outcomes for all children, by continuously improving teaching and learning, assessment, early intervention and care guidance and support and secondly to 'grow' future leaders for our own and other 21st Century schools and organisations.

We will achieve these twin aims by developing a whole school team of reflective practitioners who create and sustain a learning community able to respond to an ever changing context, evolving community needs and roles and educational developments.

Leadership develops through a shared vision, which inspires and creates commitment and embraces risk and innovation. At Marish Academy Trust we believe that effective development of leaders is a key driver in school improvement which in turn raises standards, assists recruitment and retention of staff and sustains future leadership capacity.

All staff, teaching, trainees, support staff and governors within the Trust have an entitlement to equality of access to high quality induction and professional development.

Effective Leadership and Management supports the development of systems which limit uncertainty, even out differences, and improve consistency and predictability in delivering the Trust core purpose and key development priorities.

2.1. Priorities

Our priorities within this remit are to:

- Ensure equality of access to appropriate and needs-matched Continuous Professional Development activity for all members of the Academy Trust staff team.
- Develop and empower all staff members, governors and volunteers as leaders within our "learning community"
- Marry together school priorities for improvement, national priorities and the personal and professional needs of individual staff members
- Clearly identify and plan for the delivery of the two strands of Leadership related CPD and specific CPD development priorities in the Academy Aspire Plan.
- Provide creative and varied ways of developing staff, reflecting the learning styles and circumstances of individuals, teams and the whole multi-academy trust community including, where appropriate:
 1. courses and conferences (e.g. Subject specific Leadership Training, Child Protection training)
 2. in-house training using the expertise available within the Trust (e.g. Empower to Deliver, Leadership training, modelling and coaching from 'subject specific experts')
 3. school-based work through accessing an external consultant/adviser or relevant expert such as an advanced skills or lead teacher (e.g. Lorraine Gates Reading Consultant)
 4. visits to other schools to observe or participate in good and successful practice (Pennyman)

5. opportunities to participate in award bearing work (International schools award)
6. research opportunities (best practice and action research in for example the nurture groups)
7. distance learning (Online MA, M'ED or SENCO course)
8. practical development opportunities (peer observations, team teaching, shadowing)
9. job enrichment opportunities (short term projects or internships)
10. coaching and mentoring (especially for trainee teachers, teachers who wish to progress at an accelerated rate (fast track program) and those involved in ITT)
11. involvement in teams, partnerships, networks (SSCO and Create Development R time links)

To develop an effective leadership and management ethos, we will promote a culture of partnership working based on the following values:

openness	Mutual Trust
honesty	Respect
integrity	Equality
fairness	Belonging
compassion	Hard work

3. Aims

No one part of the system will succeed alone – individuals, schools, heads, local stakeholders and national organisations all have a part to play in developing Marish Academy Trust. Distributive leadership is at the heart of the Trust.

- A. It is easier to retain capable, experienced leaders than recruit new ones. Therefore efforts to develop further and retain valued experienced leaders is part of our strategy.
- B. Leadership capability only makes sense in relation to the jobs we expect leaders to do. We must understand our leadership requirements now and in the future before translating that into skills and knowledge that will deliver success.
- C. There are many different types of leadership roles, operating at different levels. People will have varied preferences and abilities in relation to these. We are committed to the principle of distributed leadership in our Trust and recognise a multi-track career path as a possibility.

- D. The identification of people who can professionally develop and step into leadership positions now, or who have the potential to be effective leaders in the future, is an ongoing dimension to all of our training and the Trust's overall professional development strategy.
- E. People learn to be leaders through a combination of formal training and on-the-job development. Structured and varied experience of actual leadership is crucial.
- F. We will seek to develop a leadership culture where individuals flourish built on values of accountability, respect, clarity and initiative.
- G. We are committed to constructing a range of programmes and processes to develop leadership, integrating these into performance management structures.

We will ensure that the developments undertaken/experienced by our employees have a positive impact on our Trust.
